LEWISTON: The Lewiston Memorial Armory will be the site of a “trip down memory lane” on Saturday evening, December 3, 2016, from 6 – 8 p.m. The free event hosted by the Lewiston Youth Advisory Council (LYAC) is open to the public and will feature Lewiston’s history through its various musical eras. A program is BELOW.

“Lewiston Remembers Its Musical Eras” was planned by LYAC as a positive way to unite generations through music and historical reflection. LYAC Chair Jazy Dumas notes, “We have learned so much about Lewiston’s history while planning this event, and we are proud of Lewiston’s past and its present.”

The evening will include a slideshow about Lewiston, era dance demonstrations, “I Remember When” audience interviews, era refreshments, era music by DJ-Brian C, a musical finale by Weatherhead, and a look back at the PALHOP. ###

Thank you for joining us for “Lewiston Remembers Its Musical Eras.”
We have learned so much about Lewiston’s history while planning for this event, and we are proud of Lewiston’s history and its present.

It is our hope that this evening’s “trip down memory lane,” as well as focusing on where we are today, will be a positive way to unite generations about the place we call home! We also hope that this event will be a welcome addition to the arts and cultural presence within our community!
